

Business Development Manager (Space Industry)

Space Impulse is reshaping Space Commerce by creating the first global services and components marketplace for the Space Industry. We love rockets and spaceships, but we also love cryptos! Our Plasma token will be the platform's fuel for running smart contracts and paying for products and services in the marketplace.

We are reinventing the Space industry's supply chain and consequently, we are looking for people passionate about Space, cryptos and willing to do what it takes to help us succeed in our mission.

We are looking for a Business Development Manager to take the responsibility of enrolling suppliers in the platform and expanding our client base.
